Council Study Insurance Upgrading

Coleman council at its meeting October 8th spent the greatest part of the evening studying the towns present insurance coverage on all town property.

At Krywolt's Vet's Insurance and Real Estate, was present and quoted prices and conditions on upgrading the value of town buildings including the arena, the town hall, workshop, pump houses and other buildings. Council will study the quotations.

A delegation of four members of the Rebekah Lodge was present to lodge a complaint of water running into the basement of the Rebekah hall. It was felt by council that some of the problem arises from run-off from the roof of the building and adjacent buildings.

To remedy the problem council will write to the owners of the adjacent buildings requesting they install eavestroughing. The town will dump several loads of fill at the rear of the building to build up the land to slope away from the hall and the Rebekah Lodge will install eavestroughing.

Council commended good catcher Jim Atkinson for the good work he is doing in town. It was noted that there are no longer hordes of dogs running at large in the school yards or on the main street.

Council approved a plan for sale of land to the Pole treating plant in East Coleman, but added a proviso that smoke emanating from the burner must be controlled.

A grant of $400 was approved for the Coleman Community Library.

Attempts will be made to hire the Coleman Collieries gravel crusher or another gravel crusher to prepare a large amount of gravel for future roadwork.

Fire Chief Henry Zak was present and invited council and their wives to attend the annual Fire Brigade banquet to be held in the Catholic hall at 6:30 p.m. November 8th. A social evening will follow in the Elks hall.

Mayor Holyk accepted an invitation by the Chen Club to sit on the "hot seat" with two other Crows Nest Pass mayors on November 8th in Blairmore at the "Last Resort".

C.N.P. Community Chorus Organizing

The first meeting of the Crowsnest Pass Community Chorus will be held at 7:30 p.m. on October 17, in the Catholic Hall, Coleman.

This will be an organizational meeting and if the response is good that night, a rehearsal will also be held.

The chorus is open to all high school students and adults in the Pass area who can sing or want to sing. The repertoire of music will consist of sacred, classical and popular selections.

Good accompanists will be needed and if there are enough volunteers, all accompanists will have an opportunity to sing as well if they wish.

The director has found in previous areas that it is difficult to get enough male voices to balance the female voices. He hopes that this will not be true of this area.

Earl D. Erickson, a teacher at H.A.H.S., will be the new director. A native of the U.S.A., Mr. Erickson taught in Lethbridge last year. He has been a director of church choirs for years, taught vocal music in schools and directed a community chorus in northern Idaho before coming to Canada. While working on his degree, he minored in music in college and was active in the college choir.

Services Held For Harry Harris

Harry Harris passed away in the Crows Nest Pass Hospital Sunday, October 6, 1968, at the age of 73.

He was born in Merthyr Tydfil, South Wales, on May 31, 1895.

He worked in Drumheller for a short period before coming to Coleman where he worked as a hospital orderly at the Coleman Miners Hospital and later as an orderly at the Crowsnest Hospital, until his retirement in December, 1962.

Survivors include one daughter in London; one brother Edward in Cumbach, Aberdare, S. Wales.

Funeral services were held in Funtin's Coleman Chapel on Wednesday, October 9, with Minister Peter Walker officiating. Interment followed in Coleman Union Cemetery, Funtin's Chapels Limited was in charge.

Southern Alta. Juvenile Hockey League Is Formed

Sonny Richards, manager of the Pass Cascades, is happy to report that the Cascades will be playing the coming season of 1968-69 in the Southern Alberta Juvenile Hockey League.

Sonny and Arnold Habelter, recreation director for the Pass, travelled to Taber last Thursday to meet with league officials and team representatives.

The meeting dealt with the admission of the Cascades along with Claresholm and Pincher Creek into what will now comprise a nine-team league.

Considerable discussion centered around the formation of a split league. It received complete support from all teams and was passed unanimously.

The Eastern division will include Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Brooks, and Taber; the Western division, teams from the Pass, Pincher Creek, Fort Macleod, Claresholm and Lethbridge.

Each division will play approximately a 20-game schedule and will include an interlocking home and home series between divisions.

The league is slated to begin the second week of November with the Cascades playing all home games as last year, in each of the rinks, Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman.

Mr. Richards expressed his satisfaction in being able to have a team in a league of this calibre and felt sure that the Pass would be able to make a good showing.

He said his team will look forward to providing the kind of hockey that is deserving of Pass-wide support and was confident that this would be done.

To Hold Meet On Ambulance Services

Councillor Victor Krywy was appointed by council this week to represent the town at a joint meeting of Pass councils, hospital board and interested parties regarding provision of an ambulance service for the area.

The meeting is to be held in the Frank Community hall at 7 p.m. Monday, September 30.

Council approved and signed a "Joint Use Agreement" presented to council by recreational director Arnold Habelter.

A price of $500 each for two lots and $400 each for another four lots was set by council on six lots that are to be developed in the east end of Coleman near highway 3.

Appreciation

I was pleasantly surprised one evening last week when a fine looking young chap rapped on my door and presented me with a Certificate of Support, presented by the Junior Forest Wardens of Alberta in appreciation for contributions through The Coleman Journal to the Junior Forest Wardens.

It indeed gives one a good feeling to know our efforts are sometimes appreciated for our endeavor to keep the Coleman paper alive.

A total of 348 out of a possible 900 turned out to vote.

In a poll for Fluridation 175 signified they were in favor of the move while 156 were against.

Sunday Sport Admission Poll went through with a vote of 238 in favour and 82 against.

The moneys would be used to purchase land, build and equip with furniture a composite high school to serve the division.

A blanket insurance policy to cover all players in the Crows Nest Pass will be discussed as well as the organization of a league and drawing up a schedule.

In order to get minor hockey off to a good start all interested persons are urged to attend this important meeting.

Mr. Hoffman, travelling west, had stopped his half ton truck and trailer on the north side of Highway 3 near the viewpoint at the west end of the Frank Slide. The trio were looking at a view of the Frank Slide and Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman crossed the road to the south side where a view point is located. O.O.R.P. To Canvass For C.N.I.B.

Diabetic Retinopathy is increasingly becoming one of the main causes of blindness.

Leonard Chambers of Lethbridge has experienced a marked loss of sight because of this eye condition. However, with the assistance of three light coagulation treatments in Vancouver, Mr. Chambers has retained a limited amount of useful vision. Under its "Prevention of Blindness Program" the CNIB assumed the cost of transportation and maintenance for Mr. Chambers which made it possible for him to receive this treatment.

For individuals who have no other source of assistance the CNIB will assume the cost of eye examination, glasses, artificial eyes, along with maintenance and transportation as was done for Mr. Chambers.

Recently Mr. Chambers received a Sland Manager's Training Course at the CNIB center in Edmonton, and is now manager at the CNIB St. Michael's Hospital Concession Stand.

These services are made possible through your donation towards the work of the CNIB campaign in Coleman. Watch for your local canvasser who is a member of the OORP club. Your continued support is requested.

This year make you donation a generous one.

ON THE EDUCATIONAL SCENE (Article Two)

The first article in this series reviewed the present program and facilities and the future program and facilities for the Crow's Nest Pass schools. This article will present a description of the proposed centralized high school which will accommodate the grade 9, 10, 11 and 12 students in the school division.

You are reminded that you should contact the School Board office, in Blairmore, Phone 562-2588 if you desire further information regarding any of the topics discussed in these articles.

Educational Change Considered In The Design:

One of the main concerns in designing our school was that education is changing and a new building must be flexible if it is not to be out-dated when the school doors open for the first time. It was essential to plan a school that would be adaptable to the changing educational program and since it is difficult for anyone to predict what the educational requirements will be in the future we have attempted to incorporate new ideas into the plan.

School programs with increasing numbers of subject fields demand adequate space and equipment and new teaching concepts such as team teaching, large open areas for large group teaching, semester systems, vocational education, increasing use of television and other audio-visual aids, and greater emphasis on school libraries are some of the ideas we have considered in this school plan.

A modern school must be functional, adaptable and well equipped to meet the changing times. Our school was planned with these principles in mind and it will not be obsolete even if the teaching methods change drastically in the future. We have designed the building to meet the demands of the community recreation programs so that we have stage facilities for drama, a large music room with a stepped or tiered floor and stage area, a large two-station gymnasium for physical education, and adequate meeting space for public functions.

The school will have a large library core, a complete academic classroom area, a business education area, industrial arts, home economics and a language laboratory. A school with these facilities will allow a greater degree of specialization on the part of the staff, which will improve the quality of instruction and increase the overall program of studies for all students.

The problem of student traffic movement in the halls was studied extensively, and in an effort to facilitate the flow of students in the halls we have eliminated lockers in the regular halls and set up large locker spaces in the main student entrances.

Since we plan to move to the semester system in this school, lockers for the students will be more functional in the entrance areas.

The library area in this school plan is the central core of the building with adequate space near it for future expansion.

New courses in the secondary school today are so designed that students are required to do more individual reading and research, and it is expected that, in the near future, school libraries will remain open in the evenings for the particular use of the senior students. The design of the library area and indeed the whole school involves the use of clear beams and non-bearing partitions so that classroom blocks of six rooms or any part of that area would be opened up to make larger instruction areas. This feature lends itself to the regular classroom system or the large open-area teaching arrangements which is developing in Canada at a rapid rate now.

The music room is planned with a stepped floor or tiered floor—which will serve for music classes, band instruction, team teaching lecture theatre and as a very suitable small theatre for up to 120 people. Since the gymnasium and the music amphitheatre are arranged so that the stage for both areas can be utilized as one space, we will have a very adequate stage depth. The music amphitheatre will have facilities for film projection, storage space for musical instrument and practice rooms for band work.

With the growing need for more oral work in language instruction a language laboratory was included in the plans. The use of this type of specialized room is not limited to language instruction, which is clearly evident in the schools studied by the school board and administration. Language laboratories may vary in the type of equipment from the sophisticated tape-recorded to record player combination units or to the individual cubicles with a master control unit at the front of the classroom.

Size of the New School:

In the first Statement of Need sent to the School Buildings Board in Edmonton, the request was for:

20 classrooms, 4 science laboratories, 6 ancillary rooms, 1 library, 1 language laboratory, 2 station home economics, 2 station industrial arts, 2 station physical education, 2 typing rooms, 1 business machines, 1 merchandising room, 1 administrative centre of 9 rooms.

The School Board was granted the following space on February 3, 1967:

13 regular classrooms, 3 science experience classrooms, 1 science experience for grade IX, 2 science preparation and storage rooms, 2 general ancillary rooms (900 sq. ft. each), 2 general ancillary rooms (1200 sq. ft. each), 1 language laboratory, 1 library, 1 station home economics (1400 sq. ft.), 1 station industrial arts (3600 sq. ft.).

Business Education:

1 typing room, 1 multi-purpose room, 1 merchandising room, 1 business classroom.

Physical Education:

1 station physical education floor (5040 sq. ft.), stage, storage, shower and dressing rooms, physical education offices.

Administrative Centre:

1 principal's office, 1 vice-principal's office, 3 counselling rooms, secretarial and general administration area, administration conference room.

Staff Centre:

1 staff common room, 1 staff work room.

Plus other non-instructional areas as deemed necessary to provide a functional educational unit and fall within the limitations as set forth in the Regulations under the School Buildings Act.

In December, 1967, a revised Statement of Need was submitted to the School Buildings Board to attempt to increase the following areas: a 2 station Industrial Arts area, instead of the one station granted; a 2 station home economics, instead of the one station granted; a 2 station physical education floor instead of the one station, and an increase in classroom space. We received recognition of the physical education area requested and have as of February, 1968, approval for a 2 station gymnasium with a floor area of 7200 sq. ft. Although, we would have been happy to receive more area in the school, the School Board authorized the architect to proceed with the sketch plans based on the areas granted.

The sketch plans were prepared and studied by the School Board in the spring and the high school teachers in the system were involved in meetings to study the proposed school design. In order to keep the school flexible and adaptable as possible the design incorporates blocks of rooms that can be opened up to make one large area, or the area can be used as individual regular sized classrooms.

The resulting plan is a compact school that is planned to suit the topography of the site and a school plant that is suited to the demands of education now and the demands that will arise due to the changing patterns of high school education.

In the third article in this series we will describe the plans for the educational program in the new school and the aims and objectives set down for the proposed centralized school.

COUNTRY HOLIDAY

The raffish of the Ormstown (Quebec) Arena rang with the applause of 2700 enthusiastic country and western music fans when CBC radio's Country Holiday was taped there recently. This edition of Country Holiday was broadcast on the CBC radio network September 7.

"The Safety Mile"

It's known around swimming pools as "the safety mile".

And since January 1964, more than 14,100 swimmers have finished it.

Most were able to swim the safety mile in less than 45 minutes. A few have done it in half that time.

These 4,100 people have qualified for the Alberta Safety Council Mile Swim Award. Their names, and their finishing times, have been permanently recorded by the Safety Council, and they have the right to wear the Mile Swim Award Crest.

More important, these swimmers have proven themselves equal to the need for safety in the water. For them, water safety is a matter of personal responsibility.

The Mile Swim Award is now part of swimming programs at pools and summer camps nearly everywhere in Alberta. As these summer programs wind up, dozens of names of new qualifiers for the award are arriving at the Safety Council office in Edmonton, and are being added to the record book.

Qualifiers have come from as far away as England. Including Alberta, there are now six provinces, one territory, and twelve states represented in the records.

Anything Goes

When the un-numbered attempts at qualifying are added to the successful swims, more than the distance necessary to cross Canada has been crawled, breast stroked, paddled and splashed over in this single water safety program.

Anything goes in this test, so long as the swimmer does not touch bottom, or find support other than his own swimming ability. The swimmer must cover enough laps for a measured mile in not more than 45 minutes, unless there is Awards Committee approval for consideration of a physically handicapped swimmer.

Any person, regardless of age, is eligible to try the test. Several eight year olds have done it, with better than average times.

Most of the successful ones have been teenagers. The oldest qualifier daring to allow her age to be recorded was a fifty-nine year old swimmer from Medicine Hat.

Time Awards

The fastest time recorded for the Mile Swim is by George Smith of Edmonton. His time was 27 minutes: 47 seconds. He was at age 16, one of the first twenty-five people to qualify for the award. Smith is now 20, and holds the Alberta record of slightly less than 18 minutes for the metric Mile (1500 meters).

Since January 1966, the Alberta Safety Council has added time divisions in the Mile Swim Awards. Anyone completing the swim in 30 minutes or less is eligible for a gold chevron. Anyone with a time of 30:01 - 35 minutes may receive a silver chevron. A person completing the mile in 35:01 to 40 minutes can wear the bronze chevron.

The standard crest award is still available to everyone who completes the swim in 45 minutes or less. The chevrons are worn with the crest. These items are made of washable material and are to be worn on bathing suits.

Safety Motive.

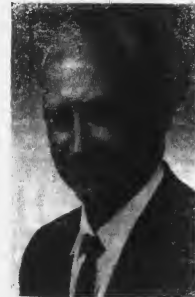

The program is sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council, and is administered on the spot by qualified swimming instructors or examiners. An official test card, available from the safety council, must be filled out by the examiner and forwarded to the Council for each qualifying swim.

It began in the fall of 1963 when representatives from several aquatic and physical fitness organizations met in Edmonton to discuss the need for swimming programs. It was felt that swimmers needed another goal in their training beyond those already offered. The group agreed that a swim mile would indicate a good degree of physical fitness and swimming ability, as well as personal motivation and responsibility for water safety.

The Safety Council agreed to sponsor the program. The Royal Life Saving Society, the Y.M.C.A., and the Canadian Red Cross agreed to administer it within their programs. A new water safety program was born. It has never looked back.

There are probably as many good reasons for buying Canada Savings Bonds as there are Canadians. There are the hopes, plans and ambitions you have for yourself and your family. There is the desire, which all of us share, to play a part in building the future of our country. The simple, safe, profitable way to help realize these goals is to buy Canada Savings Bonds.

They offer an excellent return. The average yield to maturity is 6.75% a year. There are fourteen annual interest coupons which begin at 5.75% and rise to 7.00% for each of the last nine years. These can be cashed each year as they become due. Better still, if you choose to keep these coupons uncashed, you can earn interest on your interest. Take full advantage of this option and, when your Bonds mature, your total interest earnings plus your original investment will amount to $250 for each $100 invested.

They are available to everyone. Canada Savings Bonds are available to every Canadian resident in amounts from $50 up to $50,000, for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy them.

They are instant cash. You can cash them any time at any bank in Canada at their full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy into Canada today. Buy Canada Savings Bonds. It pays,

It pays.

October Is Home And School Month

The month of October has been proclaimed as Home and School Month throughout Canada, to encourage parents to take an interest in their child's school and their child's education.

Educators and parents agree that the two greatest influences in the life of any child are his home and his school. Children benefit directly when co-operation and understanding prevail between their parents and teachers.

Home and School is an organization that works continuously and steadily for the improvement of public education at the local provincial and national levels. It is a channel through which progressive principals and teachers may interpret the school program, develop an informed public opinion, and secure solid support for improvement and change.

In Home and School parents have the opportunity to meet with the teacher and the administrator to have explained the needs of the school. There is a great need for good public relations between the educator and the taxpayers who support the school.

Public education and the image of the school in the community will never be better than the public's understanding of the school. School authorities and Home and School members in each province are combining their efforts to study the program and needs of the school. They are doing their part towards ensuring the best educational program possible to the maximum of their abilities and resources.

There is a great need for more active support, and a need for more parents and teachers interested in children and youth. Start in October to attend your local Home and School Association.

Join and participate and help it, help your children and your community.

Some Modern Aspects Of Forest Fire Control

Both the art and the science of forest fire control are undergoing a period of revolutionary change. New equipment, technology and concepts are being developed or adopted by fire control personnel to meet the demands imposed by the desire and the need to do the job better, faster and cheaper.

Basic to this development is the partial replacement of manpower by mechanical means such as the helicopter or other aircraft, swamp buggies, 4-wheel drive cars, and trail scooters. Trails, long portages and the back-breaking, laborious and hectic construction of fire guards with hand tools are being replaced and the mechanical line constructor.

Another change has been the development of the concept of the "third dimension". Fire control organizations in Canada have taken to the air. While aircraft have been used in forest fire control in Canada almost from the first days of aviation, the full potential of the third dimension was recognized in the 1950's. Aircraft had become an integral part of the fire control organization. The helicopter proved indispensable in moving men and equipment quickly to and around the fire.

The dream of fire fighters to attack the fire directly from the air also became possible. First attempted in the 1930's, direct attack from the air did not become operational till the late 1950's.

Fires are becoming smaller. While many intangible factors are involved, it is certain that faster and more effective action has significantly reduced the average size of fire in Canada. More fires are being attacked.

However, fires are becoming, on a per acre basis, more costly to control. Bulldozers, helicopters, air tankers, are all much more costly to use than a crew of men. This cost, coupled with the reduction in average size of fires, has resulted in a significant increase in the average cost of suppression per fire.

Even with the great improvements in forest fire fighting techniques, a forest fire is still a costly and dangerous enemy. It is up to every Canadian to do his part in stamping out the man-caused forest fire.

Preventive Pointers

The office of the Preventive Social Service has been humming with activity the last couple of weeks, with the launching of the Headstart Program for the Crown-est Pass area. Classes are progressing very favorably, with much enthusiasm from teachers and students.

Louis Guimond, counsellor for the Family Life Center, is now set up in his temporary office, (next door to the Orpheum Theatre), and is receiving appointments three days a week in the Pass and two days a week at Pincher Creek. A Family Life Education Program is being organized for the area in the very near future. This program will comprise age groups from teenagers to adult and family groups, and shows every indication of being a most interesting and worthwhile project.

Most favorable results are being received in connection with the Vocational Fair, which has previously been mentioned in my column. Of the 35 industries and professional departments contacted, 18 definite commitments have been received, and the remaining number are awaiting only a definite date for the Fair, to confirm their participation. Being the first of its kind in Southern Alberta, and with the favorable response received to date, I have every confidence that this undertaking will be successful, and very beneficial to our students.

In conclusion, I would like to say that the Office of the Preventive Social Service Program will be taking part in the UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) Halloween Drive. It is a way in which we might be able to give some assistance to the innocent victims of disaster, and through our help, at least some of the starving children will reach adult life, healthy and well-educated, and equipped to help their countries quest for a better life for all.

I would particularly ask everyone who would be interested in providing some information to their children about UNICEF and its work, to contact me for information booklets and material that might be required. Plans for our Halloween Drive will be completed shortly, and this is just another way in which we will "Accentuate the Positive to Eliminate the Negative."

Your Preventive Social Service Director,
Howard Coward.

Armistice Display At Canadian War Museum

A spectacular display to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the First World War armistice will open at the Canadian War Museum in Ottawa November 9.

There will be 69 panels of exhibits to describe Canada's role in the war from 1914 to 1918. They will trace the growth of the war machine from amateur beginnings to the magnificent achievements of the Canadian Corps, a powerful striking force on the Western Front.

One of the highlights of the show will be the Victoria Cross won by Lieutenant Alan McLeod, a young airman who was decorated at the age of 18. Lieut. McLeod, a native of Stonewall, Man., won the VC on March 27, 1918, recovered from his war wounds but died that November of influenza after returning home.

The display will be on the third floor of the building, where a large proportion of the material will consist of original items never before publicly displayed.

There will be picture stories of the response to recruiting, the opening of Valcartier camp, the great armada which carried the first contingent of Canadian troops to Europe, and the Canadian camp at Salisbury Plains in England.

An edited version of the film "Fields of Sacrifice" which will run for 12 minutes, will be shown almost continuously. This award-winning film was produced by Donald Brittain for the National Film Board.

The display will take an educational approach to the war, showing there was more to those years than just the fighting. But in addition, there will be detailed battle maps showing the advance of individual battalions, cartoons and photographs of the fierce conflict in France and Flanders. About 320 slides depicting that period will constantly change the scene in the main display area.

Artifacts will be shown in a manner that will illustrate the story.

A history of the First World War written by John Sweetnam will be available in pamphlet form when the display is opened.

A hundred veterans of that war drawn from all branches of the Canadian Corps will be in Ottawa over Armistice week-end to take part in the various functions. They are scheduled to visit the exhibit on November 9.

The Homemaker

It's the season to be thankful. No matter how large or small our troubles have been this past year, we all have something to be thankful about. Generally it's a lot more than we realize.

I'm always reminded of this story when I see somebody who is sad about his lot. It's the ageless story of a man who complained bitterly about not having shoes until he saw a man with no feet.

Let's take a perspective look at all our woes in comparison with all our joys. In most cases the joys will far outweigh the woes.

Women have a tendency to complain that they are taken for granted and that no one appreciates what they do, unless of course what they do is a failure, then everyone notices. This season let's not take the good things for granted. Let us say a prayer of thanksgiving for everything.

Thanksgiving to me, no matter what the temperature, is always a warm season. It's one holiday when the family does get together unlike Labor Day weekend when everyone is off to catch the last bit of summer. By Thanksgiving everyone resigns themselves to the fact that summer is over and winter is ahead. We're more peaceful and home abiding then.

One of the highlights of this season is Thanksgiving dinner. Generally turkey, plump and golden, makes the spotlight. This week then I thought I'd "Talk Turkey".

Buying a turkey is your main problem. Fresh or frozen? About 90 per cent of all turkeys on the market are fresh-frozen although many are thawed before they are sold.

Freezing has many advantages — the fresh flavor is preserved, the turkey is less susceptible to spoilage and handling costs are less.

Tom or hen? There is no real difference in tenderness. Because of improved production methods, tenderness today depends primarily on the age of the live bird, and how the meat is handled before cooking.

Tenderness is also influenced by the cooking method, the degree of dryness and to some extent the amount of natural fat.

Mature turkeys are marketed in the same weight ranges as young turkeys. Just as our grandmothers would press the breast bone to learn the age of the bird, the hardened cartilage is indicative of maturity in fresh poultry. Such mature birds require careful roasting or may be cut up and cooked by braising at moderate temperatures.

For roasting stuffed or braising with vegetables allow one half to three quarters pound eviscerated, whole or cut up raw turkey per serving (not per person, some like seconds).

A simple device for lifting whole or half turkeys from pan to platter may be easily fashioned from a few lengths of clean string.

Before roasting the turkey, measure its circumference both around the sides and lengthwise. Cut five or six lengths of clean heavy string twice the circumference around the rib cage and three or four pieces two and a half times the circumference, tail to neck.

Mark the length and width of bird on a piece of paper. Lay the shorter lengths of string flat on the paper far enough apart to cover the length of turkey. Weave the longer pieces of string through these, tying them at each juncture with cross strings to form a net-like mesh the width of the turkey.

Moisten strings with fat and place on the rack in roasting pan. Lay bird on top roll strings on each side of pan together in pieces of aluminum foil and lay in pan.

When bird is cooked remove from oven, set pan on counter, take foil from strings. Gather strings together to form a cradle and lift turkey onto platter. Slip net from under bird, garnish and serve as usual.
